ED Raids In Rs 600 Crore Crypto Conversion Case

NEW DELHI, Feb 24: The Enforcement Directorate on Monday said it has frozen bank deposits worth more than Rs 2 crore after conducting multi-state searches against an Indian national accused of illegal conversion of crypto currency worth around Rs 600 crore through various Indian crypto exchanges.

The searches were undertaken on February 20 at Delhi, Jaipur in Rajasthan and Mumbai in Maharashtra under the Foreign Exchange Management Act (FEMA).

The case pertains to the "conversion" of crypto currency worth around Rs 600 crore at various Indian crypto exchanges and the subsequent transfer of the funds to the beneficiaries, the federal agency said in a statement.

"ED investigation was initiated on the basis of a newspaper report that an Indian national named Chirag Tomar was undergoing prison sentence in the USA for stealing more than USD 20 million from hundreds of victims through the use of fake or spoofed websites mimicking the crypto currency exchange website

1984 Anti-Sikh Riots Delhi Court Awards Lifer To Ex-Congress

Coinbase," it said.

Tomar, sentenced to prison by a court in the US in November last year, could not be contacted immediately for his response to the allegations made against him by

Probe found, the agency said, trusted websites were "spoofed" in such a way by search engine optimisation that when the website would be searched, the spoofed website would appear at the top.

The spoofed website appeared "exactly similar" to the trusted website except for the contact details, the investigation found.

When users entered the login credentials, the spoofed website would show it wrong. Therefore, the users would contact the number given on the spoofed website which would eventually connect them to the designated call centre "managed" by Tomar.

Once the "fraudsters" gained access to the victims' accounts, they transferred their crypto currency holdings to crypto currency wallets under their control. The stolen crypto currency would then be sold on the website – localbitcoins.com – and converted into Indian Rupee at Indian crypto exchanges, the ED found.

Subsequently, the money was "transferred to the bank accounts of Tomar and his family members."

The ED said it has identified that the amount received by Tomar and his family, so far, through this scheme was Rs 15 crore.

Several bank accounts pertaining to the Tomar family have been frozen during the searches including deposits of Rs 2.18 crore kept in them, it said.

A similar "modus" of selling "doubtful" crypto on local bitcoins and its conversion to Indian Rupee on Indian crypto exchanges was unearthed during the search operation, the agency claimed.

Bandiporians Push for National Highway Status as Poor Connectivity Stalls Growth

SAQIB AFZAL/ DANISHWAR NISAR / SUMAIYA NAZIR

BANDIPORA: The cries for national highway status to Srinagar-Bandipora-Tulail road are growing louder with people alleging that the development of the district is on hold owing to poor connectiv-

Despite being known for its rich history, literary heritage, and the famous Wular Lake, Bandipora continues to struggle with poor road infrastructure. Since being designated a district in 2007, the lack of proper connectivity has hindered economic growth and posed risks to commuters.

Residents said the district's development is on halt as all development is subservient to connectivity. "It's owing to poor roads that all other sectors including tourism, health, education, business and agriculture are lagging behind. Roads are key to development of all these sectors," said Shabir Ahmad, a local resident. "Doctors, Teachers, Govt Employees of other districts prefer not to visit Bandipora or Gurez owing to poor road connectivity especially the narrow Srinagar-Bandipora-Gurez Road. Once roads are okay all other sectors will florish".

Ahmad highlighted the dangers posed by narrow, poorly maintained roads, recalling a recent tragedy where four army soldiers lost their lives due to inadequate road widening. "Many accidents have occurred for the same reason," Ahmad said. "With increasing vehicle traffic, the risks are only growing."

Gurez, a rapidly growing tourist destination, has been attracting visitors from across India. How-other goods carrier vehicles refuse to carry freight to Bandipora and Gurez owing to narrow roads and subsequent slow movement of traffic that also impacts their business negatively.

Responding to local demands, the lawmakers from all the three constituencies of the district have jointly raised the demand $of granting \, national \, highway \, status \, to \,$ Srinagar-Sumbal-Bandipora-Tulail

Bhat has sought intervention of chief minister Omar Abdullah to have this "long pending demand duly considered for early redressal".

He had stated that Bandipora's main connectivity has not been accorded highway status from Sumbal to Gurez, despite its strategic, economic, and accessibility considerations.

MLA Sonawari, Advocate Hilal Akbar Lone, emphasized that the lack of proper road connectivity has limited access to key tourist destinations like Wular Lake, stalling economic progress and worsening unemployment.

"Tourism has not fully developed due to poor roads," Lone said. "A well-developed highway will boost tourism and create jobs for locals." Lone and other leaders from Bandipora, Gurez, and Sonawari constituencies are actively lobbying for the project.

"A good road is the backbone of progresswhether in education, healthcare, or tourism. We will continue to push for this crucial infrastructure upgrade," Lone affirmed.

As calls for better connectivity grow louder, residents remain hopeful that authorities will take action to improve Bandipora's infrastructure, economy, and safety. With strong backing from local leadership, the demand for National Highway status could soon become a reality, transforming the region's development prospects.

Businessman Tahir Mir pointed out that patients, including pregnant women, are often referred to Srinagar for treatment but struggle to reach hospitals in time due to the poor road conditions.

the MLA of Sonawari had visited the spot to assess the situation, but no concrete steps had been taken to prevent the embankment from breaching.

Another local, Abdul Ahad, who resides near the Ihelum embankment, expressed deep concern. "The situation is extremely worrying. We fear that with each passing day, the cracks will widen, and the road might collapse. If that happens, our houses will be inundated, and we could lose everything we have worked so hard for."

"It's not just about our homes; it's about our lives. We have small children and elderly family members to care for. If the authorities don't take immediate action, we could be facing a disaster," he added.

The locals have urged the administration to intervene immediately to prevent further damage.

A team of officials has rushed to the spot to assess the situation, and necessary measures will be taken

"This is nothing but a shameful failure of the district administration and the government, who are deliberately ignoring this grave issue. How long will the people of Hajin suffer? How long will our voices go unheard? The concerned NC MLA keeps making false promises, fooling the people time and again. Enough is enough!" he said.

"I warn the administration and the government if the repair work does not start within days, I will stage a protest along with my party workers and the people of my town. The people of Hajin will not remain silent while their livelihoods are destroyed!"

tourists. Each year, thousands of tourists from Bhaderwah, Jammu. Himachal Pradesh, Punjab, Delhi, and other states come to enjoy the serene landscape of Sarthal. Particularly, during the summer, tourists flock here because the weather remains neither too hot nor too cold, providing a comfortable environment for them to enjoy the lush greenery and scenic beauty.

In the winter, the area is covered in snow, and visitors enjoy playing with snowballs, making the experience even more delightful. In addition to being a popular tourist spot, Sarthal is also a location for film shootings, with several songs having been recorded here. The region also hosts various events like cricket tournaments and the annual Chinj Mela/Dangal (wrestling competition) held every year from June 25th to 27th. This mela has been celebrated for over a hundred years and attracts people from Bhaderwah, Kathua, Himachal Pradesh, Punjab, Haryana, tion. Sarthal suffers from power issues, and although a mobile tower has been installed, it has yet to be activated. Public toilet complexes and health facilities are also lacking. Tourists often face difficulties in finding accommodation or food, as the area lacks hotels or restaurants to cater to the growing number of visitors. Furthermore, cleanliness is a concern, with a shortage of dustbins and proper waste management.

The people of Sarthal want the government to improve infrastructure, build parks, install fountains, and create better facilities for visitors. They also urge for the development of the Chattergala Tunnel, which has been awaited for over five years, as it would help connect Bani to Bhaderwah more efficiently, opening up opportunities for locals, especially the educated youth, who are currently struggling with unemployment. This project could be a game-changer for the region, providing employment

The area is blessed with abundant natural beauty, with lush greenery, dense forests, towering mountains, and clear air. Sarthal's scenery rivals popular destinations like Gulmarg, Pahalgam, and Sonamarg. The beauty of the region has been further enhanced by snowfall, attracting visitors year-round.

Mudasar Ali, a prominent social activist from Bani, has dedicated extensive efforts to the development of the Sarthal tourist destination. His deep passion for the region and its potential has led him to conceptualize several visionary plans to enhance its appeal and infrastructure. With a clear understanding of the area's rich natural beauty and untapped potential, Mudasar Ali is not only a driving force in local activism but also a key figure whose insights could play a pivotal role in transforming Sarthal into a nationally recognized tourist hub.

It is now essential for the government to recognize his invaluable contribution and actively seek his guidance in advancing the $region's\,development.\,His\,visionary\,plans\,and\,profound\,knowledge$ of the area's needs could provide the necessary momentum to catapult Sarthal to the national stage, ensuring it receives the attention and resources it deserves. Through collaboration with forward-thinking leaders like Mudasar Ali, the government can help realize the full potential of this beautiful destination and make it a must-visit spot for tourists from across the country.

The region is enriched in natural beauty and offers an enchanting atmosphere that draws both local and international Delhi, and beyond.

Sarthal's attractiveness is not only due to its beauty but also because it serves as a picnic destination for schools and colleges. As the summer season begins, the Gujjars and Bakarwals bring their livestock to the area, adding to the charm of this picturesque place. The locals are always happy to see tourists enjoying the beauty of the area, as it brings life and prosperity to the region.

Traditional attire in Sarthal includes churidar pajamas, phadi woolen coats in winter, and pherans (long, loose-fitting garments) for both men and women. Men also wear a dastar (turban), while women wear ghagras. The region's cuisine includes local delicacies like rajma chawal, kasrod ki sabzi (fiddlehead), and sarson ka saag. Dairy products such as kadhi or karhi (a vogurt-based dish), kalari cheese, desi lassi (yogurt drink), and makhan (butter) are also staples. Local sweets like barfi and jalebi are favorites, while fruits such as apples, pears, peaches, plums, apricots, and cherries, along with dry fruits like almonds and walnuts, are commonly found here.

The languages spoken in Sarthal include Pahari, Dogri, Hindi, Kashmiri, and Urdu. Local music and dance styles include Dogri and Pahari songs, along with the Kud and Gaddi dances.

Despite its natural beauty, Sarthal, and the Bani Tehsil, in general, has been often overlooked by both tourists and authorities. The region faces several challenges, including a lack of basic infrastructure that could make it a more viable tourist destinaopportunities and boosting tourism.

Additionally, the locals hope that the government will consider installing a Gondola lift in Sarthal to attract more tourists and improve the overall infrastructure. A better road network, including the year-round opening of the Bhaderwah, Basohli, Pathankot highway, would make the region more accessible, encouraging tourism and benefiting the economy.

The locals also believe that promoting Sarthal and Bani as a tourism hub will help curb the growing issues of unemployment and drug abuse among the youth. The tourism industry could provide a stable source of income for families, allowing them

In conclusion, Sarthal is a hidden gem that deserves more attention and promotion. With its natural beauty, rich culture, and potential for growth, the area could become a major tourist destination if the government takes the necessary steps to improve its infrastructure.

By focusing on Sarthal, the government can provide employment opportunities, enhance the local economy, and create a better future for the residents. Local authorities, such as Union Minister Dr. Jitendra Singh, Lt. Governor Manoj Sinha, Chief Minister Omar Abdullah, and the Director of Tourism Jammu, are urged to visit the area and help elevate its status on the tourism map of Jammu and Kashmir.

Early Signs and Symptoms of Cataracts

By: Mukhtar Ahmad Qureshi

We are all unique, and any changes in our eyes can be disturbing. Due to being such a common eye disorder, cataracts are commonly overlooked and progress steadily over time. May I share with you what knowledge I have gathered on the symptoms of cataracts at their earliest stages from my younger brother Nissar Ahmad Qureshi, a veteran Ophthalmic Technician and the owner of Quareshi Opticlas Boniyar. He has been focusing on improving the eyes condition and has implemented several awareness campaigns to educate people about cataracts and other eye conditions.

Understanding Cataracts:

Cataracts result from the natural cloudiness of the lens of eyes causing blurry or distorted vision. Cataracts often form slowly with time and may occur in one or both of the eyes simultaneously. Even though it is an age related condition, cataracts can be caused by conditions such as diabetes, longer exposure to Ultra Violet light, smoking, eye injuries, and long term use of specific drugs.

Early signs and symptoms of cataracts.

Cataract symptoms can be present if you or someone you know:

1.Blurry or Cloudy Vision.

Foggy windows and blurry or cloudy eyesight can be caused by cataracts during the early detection process. Reading, driving, and facial expressions whether they are from the sun, headlights, or lamps. Cataracts patients commonly experience

2.Increased Sensitivity to Light. It can be a challenge to use bright lights.

Halos or rings around lights at night, which are common signs of cataracts, can also have an impact on your evesight.

7.Double Vision in One Eye. Double vision in one eye, caused by cataracts, discomfort and blemishes in bright surroundings.

3.Difficulty Seeing at Night. Cataracts can cause blurry vision and driving difficulties in the dark.

Why? 4. Are there any frequent alterations to eyeglasses or contact lenses?

Sudden or recurring alteration in your prescription may contribute to vision impairments called cataracts. What causes the eye conditions? 5.Faded or Yellow Colours.

Yellow, pale, or greyish colours are a potential consequence of cataracts. Finding the different colours is difficult to distinguish.

6.Halos around Lights.

is not visible in one photograph. Other illnesses could also cause this to happen.

8.Difficulty Reading Small Print.

Small print could be hard even when you wear glasses. Reading books, newspapers, or menus is a cause of irritation.

When would it be good for you to see a doctor?

Our eyesight is under rated, but ignoring the symptoms leads to a decline that is worse than this. In case you experience any of the above symptoms, it's time to visit an eye specialist. This will mark the occasion of a medical visit to be done. If your confusion is growing and affecting your daily life.

When driving at night, there may be a glare or halos around the lights.

Why?

Your eyes may be corrected by glasses, but you are unable to recognize faces or read.

The occurrence of double vision is due to the sight of either eye or both eyes simultaneously. When they look the same, like yellows or greys. If your medication changes frequently over

How Can Cataracts Be Diagnosed?

A comprehensive examination of the eyes may involve, at an eye clinic.

Measuring the visual perception of individuals through distance vision.

The Slit Lamp Examination, utilizing a personalized microscope to scrutinize the inner workings of your eye.

By dilatation of pupils during the Retinal Examination, you can see your retina and lens in good perspective.

The intraocular pressure is measured in order to prevent other eye diseases like glaucoma with the help of the Tonometry Test.

Treatment to Overcome Cataracts:

Even though cataracts don't get better on their own, they can be treated carefully. Why? The first thing to do is wear strong glasses, magnifying glasses, or enjoy the natural world. If you have cataracts that seriously affect your vision and way of life, choose cataract surgery.

The foggy lens is removed through surgery and substituted with a clear artificial lens. The approach is effective, fast and highly successful in restoring clear vision.

Prevention is possible where a disaster would otherwise occur.

While it is impossible to avoid cataracts, there are methods of reducing the risk:

Wearing wide brimmed hats and wearing sunglasses can shield your eyes from Ultra Violet light in public. Eating green leafy vegetables, carrots, and omega-3 fish is advisable for people who opt for a diet rich in vitamins C and E. Manage chronic diseases, diabetes mellitus, and other conditions that can lead to cataract development.

Eye check-up every now and then are necessary to avoid the aggravation of the condition.

It is important to take care of your eyes since your eyesight is imperative in daily life. A cataract issue is inevitable but may be avoided by recognizing and treating it early. Consult a doctor if any of the aforementioned symptoms are inconvenient to you or the one whom you know.

My respect for my little brother. The work done by Nissar Ahmad Qureshi in spreading awareness of cataracts. By doing so, he has brought the first signs into light and encouraged people to approach treatment at a later stage. Our eyes should be taken care of and other people should do the same as well.

Nissar Ahmad Qureshi, with the support of Al Imdad International Srinagar, has organized numerous free eye check-up camps, providing essential eye care services to the School Students and general public. Through these camps, they have distributed sunglasses, spectacles, and ointments, ensuring better vision and eye health for many. I extend my heartfelt gratitude to him for this remarkable service and his dedication to the wellbeing of the people.

Apple seeds can be POISONOUS! Here's what happens when you eat them pple is considered as one the healthi est fruits but this same nutritious fruit can turn fatal. Yes, you heard it right. Apple seeds are capable of poisoning and causing death. Apple seeds contain amygdalin, a substance which releases cyanide when it comes in contact with human digestive enzymes. Amygdalin contains cyanide and sugar which when ingested by the body gets converted into hydrogen cyanide (HCN). This cyanide can make you sick and can even kill you. But acute toxicity is rare with accidental ingestion of

How cyanide works? Cyanide is infamous as one of the deadliest poisons with a long history in mass suicide and chemical warfare. Cyanide works by interfering with oxygen supply. And yes, apart from its chemical form it is also found in seeds of some fruits including, apricots, cherries, plum, peaches and apples. These seeds have tough protective coating which seals the amygdalin inside them. This strong protective layer of seeds is resistant to the digestive poisonous?

About 200 grinded apple seeds, which means around a cup of it, can be fatal for the human body. Cyanide can damage your heart and brain. It can even lead to coma and death in rare cases. In fact, if consumed in large quantities, the symptoms can occur instantly including, seizures, shortness of breath, trembling, spasm, increased heart rate, respiratory failure, low blood pressure, all of which can lead to loss of consciousness. Survivors of poisoning can show evidence of heart and brain

Also, lower amount of cyanide can lead to problems like nausea, headache, vomiting, stomach cramps, dizziness, confusion and weakness.

The exact amount that can poison someone depends on their body weight. To be more precise 0.5 to 3.5mg of cyanide per kg of a human body can be poisonous. Though it also depends on individual tolerance and the type of 1 gram of finely crushed or chewed apple seeds contain 0.06-0.24 mg of cyanide.

Verdict: Swallowing whole apple seeds is unlikely to cause any complications, as they pass without causing any harms to the body.

Still it's a good idea to remove the seeds before eating the apple. Nevertheless, if you accidentally eat a few seeds, don't worry. But you should immediately spit them out to avoid any potential issues.

PROTEIN THAT MAY PREVENT HEART ATTACK, STROKE IDENTIFIED

cientists have identified a natu rally occur ring protein in the human body that protects against heart attacks and strokes, and may help develop new therapies to prevent the build up

Researchers from King's College London in the UK measured the level of the dickkopf-related protein 3 (DKK3) in blood samples collected from 574 people over five years.

They found that those people with higher levels of DKK3 were less likely to develop atherosclerosis or to die from a heart attack or stroke.

This correlation was independent of other atherosclerosis risk factors such as high blood pressure and cholesterol levels, researchers said.

Atherosclerosis is the build-up of fatty material inside the arteries. When this material breaks down a blood clot can form blocking the blood supply to the heart or brain, causing a heart attack or stroke. Researchers found that mice bred to be genetically deficient in the DKK3 protein also developed larger, less stable atherosclerotic plaques than those who could produce the protein.

They noted that DKK3 deficient mice were also less able to regrow the endothelial lining coating their blood vessels after it had been damaged.

This suggests that DKK3 is able to protect against atherosclerosis by helping the endothelial lining repair itself at the first sign of damage, before any fatty deposits can build up.

'Our work suggests that we could use a simple blood test to find seemingly healthy people who are at risk of heart attack, and would not routinely be identified as at risk by their general physician," said Qingbo Xu, professor at King's College London.

'Ultimately it may also be possible to boost DDK3 levels and protect people against the fatty build ups which can cause a heart attack or stroke,' 'By identifying a new protective molecule this research may lead to new medicines to further reduce the risk of a heart attack," said Jeremy Perarson, professor at British Heart Foundation. Each year in the UK there are around 200,000 hospital visits due to heart attacks. This research shows that it might be possible to treat the root cause of this devastating disease, ultimately saving lives.

Stressful life experiences can cause brain to age 'by years', claims study!

fast-paced life, much like the one we lead today, can often take its toll on you and put you under mounting pressure and stress.

Financial issues, relationships, job, divorce, death, health problems, societal pressures the list of things in life that pressurize us are endless. However, these stressful life experiences can put pressure on the brain and cause it to age by several years, a study has claimed

Researchers examined data of 1,320 people who reported stressful experiences over their lifetime and underwent tests in areas such as thinking and

The average age of the subjects' was 58 years and included 1,232 white Americans and 82 African Americans.

Researchers from Wisconsin University in the US also found that African American experienced 60 percent more stressful events than white people during their lifetimes.

Each stressful experience was equivalent to about four years of cognitive ageing in African Americans, researchers said. A series of neuropsychological tests examined several areas, including four memory scores (immediate memory, verbal learning and memory, visual learning and memory, and story recall).

Stressful life experiences included incidents such as losing a job, the death of a child, divorce or growing up with a parent who abused alcohol or

The results showed that a larger number of stressful events was linked to poorer cognitive function in later life, 'The Guardian' reported

"Studying the role of stress is complex. It is hard to separate from other conditions such as anxiety and depression, which are also thought to contribute towards dementia risk," Doug Brown, director of research at the Alzheimer's Society in the UK.

"We know that prolonged stress can have an impact on our health, so it's no surprise that this study indicates stressful life events may also affect our memory and thinking abilities later in life," he added

possible reason for your snoring could be the dry air in your room. It dries the nasal membrane and throat and makes air movement restricted, which in turn makes the tissue vibrate, leading to snoring. To solve this problem, buy a humidifier and place it in Snoring is a common problem, affecting nearly 45 per cent of normal adults. This annoying sound can disrupt your sleep as well as of those who sleep with you. Snoring happens when relaxed muscles in the throat vibrate and start producing noise. It is often considered a sleep disorder. Here are some home remedies you can try to reduce (and even stop) snoring.

Humidify your room A possible reason for your snoring could be the dry air in your room. It dries the nasal membrane and throat and makes air movement restricted, which in turn makes the tissue vibrate, leading to snoring. To solve this problem, buy a humidifier and place it in your bedroom.

Reduce your weight Your excess weight can be a reason for your snoring. When you are overweight, there may be extra tissues in the throat that contribute to the noise. The more blocks your throat has, the more air gets interrupted. This creates vibrations and hence, snoring.

Practice Pranayama

Pranayama is a yoga asana dedicated to controlling your breathing. By learning pranayama, you master taking deep and slow breaths and ensure your lungs get enough oxygen. Pranayama helps in overall blood circulation in the body. It has been said to relieve many sleep disorders including snoring. Practicing pranayama will also make you feel rejuvenated and energized. Exercise your tongue and throat

By making the muscles in your throat and tongue stronger you can reduce your snoring. Because exercising makes them strong and decreases the chance of slipping them back when your rest. When you age your tissues lose their elasticity and strength and thus block your airways. Ideas for exercises

-Try to protrude the lower jaw over the upper jaw with your teeth showing while you count slowly to 10. Repeat 7-10 times a day. Make your tongue do some work out by saying, "The lips, the teeth, the tip of the tongue Repeat 10-20 times. -Take out your tongue perfectly straight as far as you can. Move it right, then left, touching the corner of your lips but make sure it stays straight. Do this twice a day. Avoid smoking

Smoking is injurious to health and we all know this. Smoking can be one of the reasons behind your snoring as it leads to swelling and blockage of the air passage.

Raise your head in the bed When you sleep sometimes your tongue falls back and blocks your throat. You can avoid this by keeping pillows under your head. This also opens the airway. Avoid alcohol and sedatives before bedtime

To prevent snoring don't drink alcohol before bedtime because alcohol relaxes tissues in the throat and makes your tongue fall back. This blocks the airway and causes snoring. Adjust your pillows you open up airways and make breathing easier, if your head is too high, your airway path can get constricted and may cause you to snore. Don't use a pillow that is too thick or too thin. Adjust it accordingly. Milk and turmeric powder

Your pillow should be neither too fluffy.

nor too flat. While raising your head can help

Take 1 cup of warm milk. Add 2 tsp turmeric powder. Consume every day at bedtime. Use clarified butter or Brahmi oil

Putting 2 drops lukewarm clarified butter in each nostril can help you sleep better by reducing snoring. Brahmi oil, a common Ayurvedic herb, can be used as an alternative to clarified butter. Do this twice a day once every morning and once before bedtime. Cardamom powder

Take 1 glass of warm water. Crush some cardamom seeds to get 1/2 tbsp cardamom powder. Add it to the water. Mix well. Consume every day before bedtime. This will help you a great deal to stop your snoring. Last but not the least

It's important to note that snoring could also be sign a of sleep appea, a life-threatening condition that should receive immediate medical attention.

NO SHUTDOWN CALENDAR, ONLY BUSINESS CALENDAR

Regarding the revival of Kashmir's cultural and tourism sector, Sinha noted that Bollywood film shootings had resumed, and cinema halls had reopened in the region after 32 years. Following the successful conduct of the G20 summit, the number of foreign tourists visiting Kashmir had increased significantly. International cricket, including the Legends League, had been introduced, and there was no longer a "shutdown calendar"—only a "business calendar."

"The new generation has forgotten stonepelting, and for the first time in 35 years, Muharram processions were allowed. People were fed up with the violence," he observed.

WEAREONSAME PAGEVIS-À-VIS DEVELOPMENT Dispelling speculation of any discord between the Chief Minister and the Lieutenant Governor, he clarified, "We are on the same page when it comes to the development of J&K."

He also assured the people that the Union Home Minister had affirmed on the floor of the house, and even the Prime Minister had assured, that statehood would be restored.

The Lieutenant Governor emphasized that steps taken to make governance transparent and accountable had led to increased public faith in the system.

He noted that J&K's growth rate had risen by 9.5% and that wasteful expenditure had been reduced. He also lauded the J&K Police, stating that it was different from other police forces in the country and that security forces had played a crucial role in restoring peace.

"Last year, we completed 92,000 projects. Elections were peaceful, and for the first time in 35 years, poll campaigning continued until 11 PM," he highlighted.

Highlighting infrastructure improvements, he noted that connectivity had played a vital role in J&K's development, with projects worth crores being implemented. "The distance between Jammu and Srinagar can now be covered in four hours. The Zojila Tunnel will be completed by 2026. Rail connectivity will be inaugurated by PM Modi soon, and air connectivity has increased with 126 flights operating from Srinagar daily. Digital connectivity has expanded, covering most areas, and J&K ranks number one in online services."

Addressing the economy, LG Sinha stated that 70% of J&K's population is associated with agriculture and horticulture, with 13 lakh families dependent on farming. The Holistic Agriculture Development Plan (HADP) aims to double the contribution of farmers to J&K's GDP. He credited Prime Minister quality infrastructure. The court added that the basic premise is that tolls should serve as a form of compensation for road users in exchange for smooth, safe, and well-maintained highways.

Abench of Chief Justice Tashi Rabstan and Justice M.A. Chowdhary observed that it was expected from the Government to suspend toll collection until the Delhi-Amritsar-Katra Expressway becomes fully operational. However, instead of suspending toll collection, the respondents have increased the toll fees at Lakhanpur Toll Plaza and Bann Toll Plaza.

The court said that the general public is feeling angered because they are forced to pay hefty tolls for shabby and under-constructed roads. The court also said that Union Minister for Road, Transport and Highways, Nitin Gadkari at a Global Workshop on Satellite-based tolling said that there is no justification of highway agencies charging toll, if roads are not in good condition or not upto their standards and people continue to face problems.

The court observed that the National Highway Fee Rules are also being violated, which require that the spacing between two adjacent toll plazas should be 60 km. The court noted that the distance between Sarore Toll Plaza and Bann Toll Plaza is only 47 km, causing a grave violation.

The court stated that millions of devotees visit the Mata Vaishno Devi Shrine, and in order to mint money from these pilgrims, the respondents have purposefully established Bann Toll Plaza before Domel without adhering to the 60 km rule between two plazas. As a result, travelers are forced to pay tolls at multiple plazas despite using only small sections of the highway.

The court directed the respondents and the contractors not to employ any person at the toll plazas who has a criminal background. They were further instructed to deploy personnel at the toll plazas only after verification by the concerned police agency.

A Public Interest Litigation (PIL) was filed by the petitioner seeking exemption from toll tax at Lakhanpur, Thandi Khui, and Bann Toll Plazas along National Highway-44 until the Delhi-Amritsar-Katra Expressway project is fully operational. The National Highway from Udhampur to Lakhanpur (Punjab) has been under construction since 2021.

The petitioner argued that about 70% of the highway is under construction, with severe diversions and potholes, and that toll tax should only be collected after the construction is fully completed as per Rule 3(1) & 3(2) of the National Highways Fee Rules.

The court directed that toll tax at the two toll plazas must be reduced by 80% immediately until the national highway is fully operational. It also ordered the removal of any toll plaza situated within 60 km of another. Additionally, the court mandated police verification before employing anyone at the toll plazas. (Agencies)

However, he criticized the PDP, stating that it is the same party that opposed the ban when it was in power but is now demanding it. "Kashmir is the land of Sufis, and Jammu is the land of temples. If the liquor ban is implemented, we support it. The PDP opposed it in the past but is now deceiving the people on this issue," he said.

The BJP lawmaker also took aim at the Jammu and Kashmir National Conference's (JKNC) 12-point manifesto, claiming the party has not fulfilled its promises. Pakistan will find it hard to beat India's B team: Gavaskar akistan's cricket team continued o invite scathing criticism a day after being knocked out of the Champions Trophy with the great Sunil Gavaskar saving that it would struggle to beat even a secondstring Indian team.

India, the 2023 ODI World Cup finalists, defeated defending champions Pakistan by six wickets in the Champions Trophy in Dubai $on \, Sunday, continuing \, their \, dominance \, over \,$ the arch-rivals.

"I think a B team (from India) certainly (can give Pakistan a run for their money). C team, I am not too sure. But a B team will be very, very hard to beat for Pakistan in their current form," Gavaskar said on 'Sports Today'.

Pakistan, hosting an ICC tournament for the first time since 1996, were knocked out of the Champions Trophy after New Zealand beat Bangladesh in another Group A match. Pakistan are still winless in the event.

Since winning the Champions Trophy in 2017, Pakistan's cricketing fortunes have declined, with the team finishing fifth in the last two ODI World Cups.

"I think it's surprising-this lack of bench strength. Pakistan always had natural talent. Natural in the sense that they may not have always been technically correct, but they had an instinctive understanding of bat and ball," Gavaskar said.

"Look at Inzamam-ul-Haq, for example. If you look at his stance, you wouldn't recommend that to a young batter, but he had great temperament. With that kind of temperament, he made up for any technical shortcomings." Gavaskar also noted that despite the Pakistan Super League (PSL) and domestic whiteball tournaments, Pakistan has struggled to produce quality players. "How has India produced so many young stars in white-ball cricket? It's because of the IPL," said the former India skipper.

"Players from there have gone on to play in the Ranji Trophy and eventually for India. That is something Pakistan cricket must analyse. They need to figure out why they no longer have the bench strength they once did."

India vs Pakistan: A one-sided contest now. Atherton

An India-Pakistan match is always a highlyanticipated event, but former England captain Michael Atherton believes the contest has become "one-sided" and the cricket does not live up to the hype.

"Well, it was completely one-sided," Atherton said on Sky Sports Podcast.

"It looked very predictable from a long way out. An underpowered Pakistan batting line-up, as it was in that first game, actually, against New Zealand. There just seemed to lack a bit of energy and dynamism in the batting."

India and Pakistan only meet in ICC events, and their clashes are often built up as blockbuster encounters.

"There's a bit of an issue for that contest, isn't it? Because it's a highly anticipated contest for all kinds of reasons. Partly, you know, just because of the scarcity value. They only play each other in ICC events on neutral territory for obvious reasons," he said.

"But there's such hype around that fixture. You kind of want the cricket to live up to that hype as well. If you look at the results in the last 10 years, I think they've played each other nine times in ODIs in the last 10 years.

"Pakistan have only won once, and that was in that final in the Champions Trophy at the Oval. So, it's a one-sided contest right now."

Pakistan leads the head-to-head in ODIs. winning 58 and losing 73 in 136 games. Atherton feels Pakistan have lost the edge in the

Champions Trophy: India have huge advantage playing at same ground, says Cummins

■njured Australia captain Pat Cummins believes India have a "huge advantage" to be based in Dubai for the ongoing Champions Trophy while other sides criss-cross Pakistan for their group games in the tournament being held under a 'hybrid model'. Rohit Sharma's men are playing all their matches in Dubai and even the final will be held there if the team goes the distance. This was done after India refused to travel to Pakistan, the original hosts of the event, citing security concerns.

"I think it's good in that the tournament can go on, but obviously it does give them (India) a huge advantage playing on the same ground. They already look very strong and they've got that obvious benefit of playing all their games there," Cummins told 'Yahoo Australia'.

 $India\,have\,won\,both\,their\,games, against\,Bangladesh\,and$ Pakistan, comfortably so far and are through to the semifinal on March 4. to be held in Dubai.

Their last group match is on Sunday against New Zealand, a team that has so far played in Pakistan, also winning both its games against the home side and Bangladesh.

Cummins is watching the tournament from the sidelines owing to an ankle injury and is targetting a return to competitive cricket with the IPL next month. The break also coincided with the birth of his daughter.

"It's been nice to be at home with everything going on and the ankle rehab is tracking well, so I will start running and bowling this week," the 31-year-old said.
